

Perpetual Dissatisfaction

It is the ingratitude that blinds us.
Our failure to see what we have on the way to getting more Our disregard for what we step over on the way to somewhere else Our lack of attention to the person by our side on the way to someone else Our dismissal of the good that we do on the way to something greater.
All that we take for granted falls through our hands and disappears from sight.
And we too fall away from ourselves and from You.
We walk by ourselves by the wayside and do not recognize You on the way to something better.

Mary Jo Leddy, Radical Gratitude